I asked myself how would I introduce myself to a group of people who do not know me, and want to know something instead of nothing.

And,... yes,... I think this is really challenging. I can't proof that I m the same person that "I" was 20-25 years ago, and in short: "my business" or the "things" I do, most of the time,... is some sort of "art performance". The "things" I did b4 were partial illegal, and partial just not "continuable"...

I m not an illustrator or something like that, but I like to think about myself as the main piece of art I m working on. In the here and now I feel that I have lost the most of my creative-energy,... but I hope to regain/recover it sooner or later,...

Last summer I was found underneath my apartment window for the second time in my life,... and "they" thought I was suicidal. But I have to say,... I was never "really" suicidal... Just some people don't like my art.

I have my own opinion about 9/11 and some RAF-Stuff,... and some more "things". I was warned that I talk/write to much, but the things I published can be repeated several times... I guess. And concerning the art-"value",... it is more than a "protecting" attitude.

In short: my opinion is just mine,... and truth can be found, proven or assumed,... (or killed) and so far it's all art, no one has to be offended by it.

Further more,... May be I do not know who I m, but I m afraid of telling someone,... the things I know,... and that applies to so many things in my life,... I think it's better I remain silent about "the rest" for now. But I will write more about the things that "happened" in my life in the way "I can remember it". What really happened is in most parts a mystery for myself.

Any information about the time of my birth and the "way" of my overall "public appearance" and reception are welcomed,... like every feedback is,...

I have given blood oath to serve life. All I did, do and will do,... comes with that "limitation".

Supplemental:

I feel/know that I m a symbiotic hermaphroditic born creature. And yes,... sounds crazy, but as far as I know/experience/have been told, there are 2% of my DNA extraterrestrial.

Not more,... may be it looks designed all the way,... but the fact alien "belong" is only 2%. For an alien device microcontroller and some memory (So I really know that,... no - that part I m not 100% sure about but I think it's likely...)

I m human. A very rare hermaphroditic born,.. but now as full male. In me I m most for now "Apollo" the successor of Axel who is experienced "dead" inside me, but still, I introduce myself to new people often as "Axel". Apollo would be more honest and closer to what/who I am.

A Nora part. To keep a reminder of my "female components".

And a Ra part,... which refers to the "Alien".

Any questions?

(Please: I m no mad man... and not so crazy at all... proof that I m a liar... I deliver all proof I can,... guess I can't at all,...
but may be others will do their parts in the future...)
